America Has a Crime Reporting Problem

Tracking crime statistics – and more importantly, whether or not crime is rising or falling in the United States – is getting harder to do. That's because nearly a third of America's cities are no longer reporting crime statistics to the FBI.

The Marshall Project reported that 31 percent of the 18,000 law enforcement agencies across the U.S. failed to report crime data to the FBI's national database after transitioning to a new system.

Many of the cities on the list are some of the largest metro areas dealing with rampant, out-of-control crime and happen to be led by the loudest voices calling for gun control, defunding police and soft-on-crime policies. The trifecta means that gun control politicians are missing a third of the crime picture yet demanding 100 percent of the gun control.

Typical behavior for zealots who favor government control over individual freedom. New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, California, Illinois, New Jersey and Florida all made the list. "Successful people make a habit of doing things that unsuccessful people don't like to do."

08-11-2023 Legislative Alert- National Ban on Hunter Ed Funding

In case there was any doubt in anyone's mind that the "end game" of the far Left in the United States is the total disarmament of the American People, the Biden Administration has announced that any schools offering gun-related or archery-related instruction will suffer the loss of federal funding that supports those activities. This move comes under the auspices of the 2022 Bipartisan Safer Communities Act (BSCA), a "compromise" by Republicans with Left-wing Democrats that is coming back to bite the GOP.

This situation points out the extreme danger of compromise with the Left. They seem to adhere to the Saul Alinsky strategy. Get everything you can this time and then come back next time and get more, until you have total control of every aspect of society. The ban on archery instruction may serve as a wake-up call to that community about the desire of the Left to remove every possible means of self-protection from our citizens.

Hunter Education Programs reach hundreds of thousands of young people every year. These courses demonstratively have contributed to the observable decline over time in firearms-related accidents. The classes teach gun safety and responsible use of firearms. This funding ban belies the concern of the Left for public safety, since the elimination of the classes will predictably decrease such safety. The next "logical" step will be more gun control that will only impact law-abiding Americans.

We believe the Left has a nasty habit of creating problems, then stepping in to resolve the situations with more and more restrictive regulations. Another example of this modus operandi is the withdrawal of school resource offices from schools. The lack of first responders in place at the schools increases the risk of shootings. When more mass casualty incidents occur, because of the Liberal/Progressive policy, the Left comes back with calls for more restrictions on law-abiding gun owners. Defunding the police follows the same pattern.

Elections are the most important factors in determining if we are to keep our birthright of freedom recognized by the Second Amendment. Elections determine who runs the legislative process at the state and federal levels, and who controls the boards, councils and commissions for local districts, cities and counties. Please do as much as you can to assist in the effort to elect pro-Second Amendment candidates in every election. Remember that a Third-Party Vote is a wasted vote and that people who cast protest votes are called losers.

Wrong Again: Kamala Harris Prescribes a Public Health

The Firearms Coalition of Colorado Deadline for comments on limited U.S. wildlife reserve lead ban

In what appears to be a continuing incremental approach to banning the use of lead ammunition on federal land, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is proposing a "non-lead" requirement for eight national wildlife reserves (NWRs). As bait, they are offering to "expand hunting operations on three NWRs.

The following is a quote from the summary of the proposed regulations. "In this proposed rule, Blackwater, Chincoteague, Eastern Neck, Erie, Great Thicket, Patuxent Research Refuge, Rachel Carson, and Wallops Island NWRs are each proposing a non-lead requirement, which would take effect on September 1, 2026, if we adopt them as part of a final rule. While the Service continues to evaluate the future of lead use in hunting and fishing on Service lands and waters, this rulemaking does not include any opportunities proposing to increase or authorize the new use of lead beyond fall 2026."

The following website provides information about the proposed rule, as well as information about how to submit comments. Regulations.gov.

Lead bans increase the cost of ammunition, making it harder for hunters and other firearms users to participate in shooting activities on federal land. Please take the time to weigh in on the proposal. This looks like another battle in the Liberal/Progressive war on the Second Amendment.

Additional information from the web site on comment submission follows.

"• By hard copy: Submit by U.S. mail or hand delivery: Public Comments Processing, Attn: FWS–HQ–NWRS–2023–0038, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, 5275 Leesburg Pike, MS: PRB (JAO/3W), Falls Church, VA 22041–3803.

We will not accept email or faxes. We will post all comments on https://www.regulations.gov. This generally means that we will post any personal information you provide us..." Comment submission deadline is 08-22-2023.

Be courteous and concise in your comments to all public officials. Where appropriate, state facts and the personal impact of proposed rules on you and your family.

FAIR USE

Copyright Disclaimer under section 107 of the Copyright Act 1976, allowance is made for "fair use" for purposes such as criticism, comment, news reporting, teaching, scholarship, education and research.

Fair use is a use permitted by copyright statute that might otherwise be infringing.

Non-profit, educational or personal use tips the balance in favor of fair use.

FAIR USE DEFINITION:

(Source: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Fair_use)

Fair use is a doctrine in the United States copyright law that allows limited use of copyrighted material without requiring permission from the rights holders, such as for commentary, criticism, news reporting, research, teaching or scholarship. It provides for the legal, non-licensed citation or incorporation of copyrighted material in another author's work under a four-factor balancing test. The term "fair use" originated in the United States. A similar principle, fair dealing, exists in some other common law jurisdictions. Civil law jurisdictions have other limitations and exceptions to copyright.

U.S. COPYRIGHT OFFICE - FAIR USE DEFINITION:

(Source: http://www.copyright.gov/fls/fl102.html)

One of the rights accorded to the owner of copyright is the right to reproduce or to authorize others to reproduce the work in copies or phonorecords. This right is subject to certain limitations found in sections 107 through 118 of the copyright law (title 17, U.S. Code). One of the more important limitations is the doctrine of "fair use". The doctrine of fair use has developed through a substantial number of court decisions over the years and has been codified in section 107 of the copyright law.

Section 107 contains a list of the various purposes for which the reproduction of a particular work may be considered fair, such as criticism, comment, news reporting, teaching, scholarship, and research. Section 107 also sets out in four factors to be considered in determining whether or not a particular use is fair:

- 1. The purpose and character of the use, including whether such use is of commercial nature or is for nonprofit educational purposes
- 2. The nature of the copyrighted work
- 3. The amount and substantiality of the portion used in relation to the copyrighted work as a whole
- 4. The effect of the use upon the potential market for, or value of, the copyrighted work

The distinction between fair use and infringement may be unclear and not easily defined. There is no specific number of words, lines, or notes that may safely be taken without permission. Acknowledging the source of the copyrighted material does not substitute for obtaining permission.

The 1961 Report of the Register of Copyrights on the General Revision of the U.S. Copyright Law cites examples of activities that courts have regarded as fair use: "quotation of excerpts in a review or criticism for purposes of illustration or comment; quotation of short passages in a scholarly or technical work, for illustration or clarification of the author's observations; use in a parody of some of the content of the work parodied; summary of an address or article, with brief quotations, in a news report; reproduction by a library of a portion of a work to replace part of a damaged copy; reproduction by a tecacher or student of a small part of a work to illustrate a lesson; reproduction of a work in legislative or judicial proceedings or reports; incidental and fortuitous reproduction, in a newsreel or broadcast, of a work located in the scene of an event being reported."

Copyright protects the particular way an author has expressed himself. It does not extend to any ideas, systems, or factual information conveyed in the work. The safest course is always to get permission from the copyright owner before using copyrighted material.
